

Food Security Investment Forum in Asia-Pacific

The forum is co-organized by ADB, IFAD and FAO and co-supported by USAID from 7-9 July, 2010 in ADB head office in Manila. Government representatives, donors, civil society, farmer organization and hundreds of private sectors were invited in the historical forum. The main goal is to explore new approaches to tackle the region's food security challenges.

FNN and CFAP meeting

Primary meeting before IFFSAP

The forum put most attention and concern upon food security since the world population growth is very fast – that might be up to 9 billion by 2050. Therefore, all investment must pay much attention to the efficiency of donation or loan for ensuring the development on sustainable food security. It means that we provide loan or support directly to civil society and small farmer organization that are the producers, and ensure the food security. In the historical forum ADB, donors whom includes CFAP and FAO, have joint signed on the hard commitment to provide loan or support at least 12% to civil society and farmer organization (through the government) to ensure the food security both region and world. By: NOY Kimhong
